Early Peace Talk For Indochina Is Reportedly Close

GENEVA, April 27 (AP)—The Western allies and Russia reported tonight to be nearing agreement on an early peace conference.

Western officials said talks aimed at ending the bloody war in southeast Asia may begin by next week.

There has been pressing urgency for a formula to end the fighting before the Geneva conference becomes bogged down in wordy arguments over a Korean peace.

French delegates conferred with both Soviet and Western delegations today in an attempt to get first priority for the Indochina issue.

Originally it was not to have been discussed until the Korean question was disposed of.

Indications mounted that France, the United States and Britain might be willing, in hastily arranged Indochina talks, to agree to partition of the war-torn peninsula as a last resort to end the eight-year-old war.

Urges Consideration

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, fearful that time is running out for the besieged defenders of Dien Bien Phu, urged that the Indochinese problem be considered immediately.

But the conference, now in its second day, swung into a debate of the Korean issue in spite of the overwhelming preoccupation of Western delegates and governments with the French military crisis in her long fight against communists in southeast Asia.

Communist North Korea handed the conference a six-point plan for a Kremlin-style Korean political settlement. It called for Soviet-type controlled elections and withdrawal of all foreign troops within six months.

Would Be Refused

The United States and her Western allies already have said such a solution would be unacceptable.

Bidault met for 40 minutes today with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

French sources said the question of a cease-fire in Indochina did not come up at the Bidault-Molotov meeting.

However, discussion about the possibility was in both sides.

Members of the French delegation said it was "possible" Russia and red China would propose a cease-fire, but added that many things were possible.

Washington, April 27 (AP)—Highly placed officials said yesterday the Eisenhower administration has not abandoned the idea of sending American fighting forces to Indochina as a last resort.

But they emphasized that certain conditions would have to prevail before the United States joined in the war against the communist-led Vietminh.

On primary condition, they said, is that there be "united action" in Indochina by the French and the United States.

These officials, who asked to remain unidentified, denied published reports from Geneva that the administration has decided not to intervene actively in Indochina no matter how bad the situation gets there.

In Congress, Representative Cannon, D. Mo., senior Democratic member of the house appropriations committee, called on the administration to state clearly "whether we will defend Indochina or not."

Cannon said it is important that the house know before it starts debating the 28 1/2 billion dollar defense budget tomorrow.

On the other side of the capital, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, D. Colo., declared "this present crusade to send troops to Indochina with its uncalculated cost for an uncalculated result is the most foolhardy venture in all American history."

Johnson told the senate that armed intervention would cost the United States at least 500,000 casualties and 100 billion dollars.

He also said America's allies are showing no heart for a fight in Indochina.

OFFICER FREED

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—Marine Col. Frank H. Schwabe was freed today from any disciplinary action for making a false war crime confession while he was a Korean War prisoner of the communists.

Top State Court Rules Church to Pay Farm Taxes

BOISE, April 27 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court ruled today that there is no inherent right to exemption from taxation by churches or charitable corporations and denied a suit brought by the Latter-day Saints church in Malad.

The Malad Second ward had appealed from a district court decision which held that the church would have to pay property tax on 160 acres of farmland it owned in Oneida county.

The supreme court ruled that the church must pay the taxes. The property, although owned by the Second ward, was not being used as a place of worship, but was being used to raise wheat, and the test of any exemption from taxation is the use of the land and not its proceeds, the high court held.

Wheat from the 160 acres was being sent to Utah to be ground into flour for the LDS church welfare program, the court noted.

This was not the purpose for which the church had incorporated as a religious body and therefore the claim for tax exemption could not be sustained, the supreme court ruled.

Five Mothers Picked For Event on May 8

"Five county women will be honored during a special 'Queen Mother for a Day' program here May 8, announces S. E. Running, program chairman.

Candidates and their sponsors are Mrs. Harry Wood, Kimberly Grange; Mrs. A. E. Kunkel, Hollister Grange; Mrs. Parley Harmon, Castleford Grange; Mrs. Gordon Bennett, Deep Creek Grange, and Mrs. Wilbur Butler, Pleasant Valley Grange. The event is sponsored annually by the Retail Merchants bureau of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

To make the contest more equal, Granges sponsoring candidates in last year's contest are not eligible to enter contestants this year, explains Running.

Merchants participating in the observance will have ballot boxes where shoppers may vote for their favorite. No purchases are necessary to participate. Shoppers will be limited to one vote per store. Balloting is to begin May 3.

The winner will be crowned at special ceremonies at the intersection of Shoshone street and Main avenue. She will receive gifts from participating merchants. Prizes also will be awarded the four runners-up.

Howard Moffat will be master of ceremonies.

Assisting Running in organizing the observance are Hugh MacQuillen, Louis Thornton, Marcella Snow, Mrs. Ollie George, Mrs. Martha Kennedy and Mrs. Cecil Foye.

Meeting Reported

But it was learned reliably that Radford will meet with Mr. Eisenhower this afternoon after a lunch conference with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Wilson, retired Gen. James A. Van Fleet and Assistant Defense Secretary W. J. McNell were scheduled to meet Mr. Eisenhower and it was expected Radford would join them and give a report on his talks with French and British leaders.

They were expected to discuss a possible new role for the United States in Indochina.

Radford refused to comment on his talks yesterday with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The question before policy-makers was, in general, when and how the United States should go to save Indochina from communist conquest. The gravity of the situation was sharpened by French appeals for American air intervention at Dien Bien Phu, the French outpost which seems likely to fall to Red rebel forces at any moment.

Leaders Ask Drought Aid

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—Governors of five "dust bowl" states yesterday urged the federal government to grant 15 million dollars for emergency soil conservation work to halt wind damage on drought-stricken land.

The governors of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and New Mexico met at the White House at the invitation of President Eisenhower to consider their increasingly serious drought problems.

The five executives also recommended that additional loan and credit facilities be made available to farmers and ranchers in the drought area and that the land owners be "encouraged and helped in the proper use of their land in the future so that it will minimize the dust and wind damage."

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, told reporters the agriculture department and civil defense administration would review these recommendations and report to the President "probably today."

Governor Thornton, Colorado, spokesman for the state officials, emphasized the measures recommended were meant solely to meet emergency conditions. Further study must be given to the problem of long-range drought control, he said.

Ike Wins Important Test As Senate Votes 48 to 40 Opposing High Crop Pay

(From United Press and Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 27—President Eisenhower won an important test on farm legislation today when the senate rejected a farm-bloc attempt to continue high-level price supports on basic crops. The vote was 48 to 40.

The test came on a move to tie to the administration's wool support bill an amendment to continue present price supports at 90 per cent of fair-price parity on basic farm crops. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., sponsor of the amendment, modified it an hour before the vote in a bid to gain support. But the effort failed.

Eleven Democrats crossed party lines and joined 37 Republicans to defeat Ellender's proposal. Seven Republicans, 32 Democrats and independent Sen. Wayne Morse, Ore., voted for it. Sen. George W. Malone, R., Nev., then called up an amendment which would junk the wool bill's production payments and substitute a system of wool tariffs.

Would Continue Level

Ellender's proposal would have continued the present 90 per cent level on the so-called basic crops—cotton, corn, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco for one year after the present expiration date at the end of this year.

The administration wants the high-level supports to expire on all except tobacco on schedule Dec. 31. In separate legislation, now pending before the senate agriculture committee, the administration is asking for a system of "flexible" price pays.

Fight Looms

Another fight on the issue remained in prospect when the committee sends the overall farm bill to the senate floor.

House farm leaders have made it clear they will act on the wool bill and consider all four crops in a single bill.

Sen. Milford R. Young, R., N. D., denounced Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's flexible support plan as the work of "a few hard-picked people" and said "we know enough of what it will do to our national economy to vote on it now."

In Effect 13 Years

The 90 per cent supports for basic crops have been in effect a dozen years. They were put on in World War II to stimulate food and fiber production. Congress has extended them repeatedly.

In an interview, Ellender said "I have never seen such pressure" as he declared was being exerted to defeat continuance of high level supports. Some of it, he said, came from the White House.

Cuts in Taxes Will Be Urged If Warranted

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration will call for further tax cuts as soon as the budgetary situation warrants them, Budget Director Rowland H. Hughes said today.

"It is our determined purpose to make further reductions in taxes—but only as rapidly as those reductions are justified by prospective revenues and reductions in expenditures," Hughes told the 42nd annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

President Eisenhower signed—although his administration had opposed—legislation that cut federal excise taxes a billion dollars a year on April 1. But he is vigorously fighting a democratic attempt in congress to boost personal income tax exemptions.

Chairman John W. Bricker, R., O., of the senate commerce committee told the Chamber the future of the American merchant marine demands that construction be started now on new ships in U. S. yards.

Earlier, A. L. Mills, Jr., a member of the federal reserve board, said the board will continue "easy-money" policies until business takes a definite upturn.

Driver Pays Fine On Speed Charge

Mrs. Fayesther Waegeland appeared on behalf of her brother, William A. Russell, in police court Monday and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of speeding on Main avenue south April 18. Russell was fined $10 and $3 costs. He was driving 40 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone, police said.

On a second speeding charge, Glen E. Naylor paid $10 fine and $3 costs in police court Monday. Naylor was arrested after being clocked driving 35 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Sharon Billington, 15, was fined $5 and $3 costs in justice court Monday after pleading guilty to a charge of driving without a license on Locust street Sunday.

Four motorists paid fines of $10 and $3 costs each Tuesday at Buhl Police Judge Floyd Dales. They are Doyle C. Murphy and Harold Dial, both Buhl, stop sign violations, and Marion Stanley, New Raymer, Colo., and Paul Kunkel, Salt Lake City, speeding.

Keep the White Flag of Safety Flying

Now 18 days without a traffic death in our Magic Valley.

Crash Wrecks Identical Cars

SHOSHONE, April 27—William McKnight, Boise, received three fractured ribs, cuts on his head and knees and bruises in an accident at 2 a. m. Sunday six miles west of Shoshone on Highway 26.

Two automobiles, both green-colored 1947 Chevrolet sedans, were involved in the crash. McKnight's car was listed a total loss by Sheriff Thomas Conner. He estimated damage to the other car at $150.

McKnight was traveling west and Mrs. Myrtle Conklin, Hagerman, was driving east. Left front fenders on the two cars sideswiped one another.

Both cars went off the left side of the road, McKnight's hitting a high ledge of rock. Mr. Conklin's car didn't hit anything and she was uninjured.

McKnight was treated by a Shoshone physician and taken to Twin Falls. His dog, cocker spaniel, has not been seen since the accident and he urges anyone knowing of the whereabouts of the dog to notify the police.

The sheriff issued a citation to Mrs. Conklin for driving without a driver's license. She appeared before Justice of the Peace Frank Dice Sunday afternoon and paid a fine of $2 and $3 costs.

Hearings Waived On Check Count

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

When he was learning to talk, the inference is that we, his parents, are responsible for this. We just don't understand."

Neither do I. To me, one guess is as good as another and this decision of the psychologist is a guess. What else can it be? Anyway, no matter what the cause, the child's difficulty must be met and overcome if possible.

In my experience, it is often possible to help children with speech difficulties. The more difficult cases must be referred to the speech specialists, the physicians who understand the speech mechanism, its vagaries, and so can advise the speech teachers.

Often the nervous system of the stammering child is at the bottom of his trouble. The child grows tense from head to heel—freezes at the thought of an audience. Fear will do this and it is clear to teachers of such children that a certain fear of drawing attention to himself, coupled with the fear of making a mistake and bringing down ridicule on his head, causes the stammering or stuttering. Such instances of speech difficulty are familiar to all teachers.

The thing to do is to help the child to gain confidence in himself. If the teacher will prepare this child beforehand for a classroom speech, rehearse him, making it brief, the words easy for him to pronounce, until he feels he knows just what to say and how to say it, he will do much better. Like all learning experiences, this must be repeated many times to become habitual ease. Kindness, friendliness, is a great sedative to fear.

When the examining physician finds a physical defect affecting speech he will advise the parents as to what can be done. He will advise the teacher so he will know what not to do, as well as what he can do in remedying the condition.

No teacher, no parent, nobody but the physician who understands the speech mechanism and the nervous system that controls it, should attempt to correct a speech difficulty. This must be done under the advice and guidance of experts in the field. Speech, being our chief source of communication, demands the respectful consideration of parents, teachers and the medical profession.

Lying can become a harmful habit. Parents should search for the cause and put an end to lying before trouble starts. Dr. Patri gives his excellent advice in his book, "Lying." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 16, N. Y.

Dr. H. W. Hill, D.C., who took care of your ills here in Magic Valley for 19 years has returned to again serve you.

Stars Set Pace For New Craze Of Hair Styling

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP)—The newest beauty craze is a choppy haircut.

The jagged, close-cropped locks adopted by Audrey Hepburn as the watery heroine in "Ondine" and by explosive Renee Jeanmaire, the French ballet dancer starred in "The Girl in Pink Tights," threaten to become a national fad.

Hair stylists say the "little boy" cut is being forced on them by popular demand. The trick, from a stylist's viewpoint, is to make the cut look as if the customer had done it herself with the hedge clippers.

Miss Hepburn, a remote and independent beauty who won the year's two top dramatic awards, does cut her hair herself. Her academy award winning performance as a princess in "Roman Holiday" was filmed when she had fluffy bangs and a soft bob. Then she came east to start rehearsals for "Ondine," a part that won her the Antoinette Perry award as the year's top stage actress, and went the curls.

Renee Jeanmaire gets the credit (or the blame, depending on one's point of view) for getting there first with the least hair. She cut hers off four years ago to dance the unconventional and sexy title role in "Carmen" in Roland Petit's Ballet de Paris.

"Now I don't want to let it grow," Jeanmaire said. "I am recognized by my haircut."

The hair style is flattering to just one consensus of beauty experts agrees, but here's how to copy it: Brush hair toward face from crown of head and start snipping until it lies in a shaped, flat cap with the briefest fringe jutting past the hair line. The back gets the same treatment as the nape of the neck.

Jeanmaire has hers trimmed every other week by Michel, a leading hair stylist, and washes it herself every day, dousing it liberally with baby oil while still wet so it lies flat and shiny.

"I didn't dream it would start a trend," sighed Michel, a man who takes pride in making his customers look beautiful. "We try to vary it with other women. So many come in now asking to copy Jeanmaire."

Miss Hepburn allows herself longer bangs, so she can have a few curls around her face if she wishes. She usually appears with the bangs brushed forward from the crown of her head to give that new, flat-topped look.

Men have been overheard to describe haircuts copied from these two young Broadway sensations as "peeled onions, barber school bobs and hatchet jobs."

It's only undisputed advantage is seasonal. It's real cool.

Menu Scrawl May Create New Style, Designer Says

By The Associated Press

A new fashion may be born on a restaurant bill of fare, a tablecloth or a hotel room blotter, reveals Christian Dior in his first book, "Talking About Fashion," due in book stores this week.

The quiet Frenchman, whose fame has spread around the world since he fathered the "new look" in 1947, says he stumbled into dress designing by chance when first faced with the necessity of earning a living after a somewhat aimless youth. A friend encouraged him to sketch some models, which immediately were bought by various Paris couturiers—and a career was launched.

It took 12 years for that career to burst into full bloom, however—years of learning the tricks of the trade and the war years when Paris was cut off from the free world.

Dior designed for Lucien LeLong and Robert Piguet before he opened his own salon in 1947, backed by Marcel Boussac, French textile king. Now there are few women in Europe or America who have not heard of this man who looks a little like a balding bookkeeper, but who has changed the look of international fashion.

As to how a fashion is born, Dior writes: "There is every season a certain 'spirit' in fashions. 'Actually it is the public which creates this spirit. It is made up of several elements. The first is the atmosphere of the moment—what is going on in the world; the second is logic; the third chance; the fourth the choice made by the magazines.'"

Once a fashion is a success, continues Dior, it starts to die: "When the fashion spreads so widely as to become the general fashion, it automatically becomes unfashionable."

Dior's personal method of creating a new collection starts with a trip to some quiet spot, a slightly dull spot, if possible. Here he idles away his time for a while, forgetting fashion, and then—

"Quite naturally, without forcing myself, in bed, in my bath where I

What every good cook knows:

Just a little difference in ingredients makes a big difference in cooking results.

Snowdrift is just a little lighter than any other shortening—and that can make the big difference in giving your family lighter, more digestible foods.

Snowdrift is pre-whipped just a little longer than ordinary shortenings. That can make the big difference in easier blending for cakes, pie crust, biscuits and everything you bake.

Snowdrift's ingredients are just a little costlier than any other solid shortening (yet you pay no more). And that can make the big difference in better tasting foods.

No other shortening at any price is so creamy, so digestible—and so light!

Samples Served Women Present At Cook Session

Women attending the cooking school sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority Monday night in the Idaho power company auditorium were treated to samples of the dishes prepared during the session.

One-dish meals including hamburger pie, frankfurters and cheese macaroni, asparagus and ham, Indian chicken curry and Italian spaghetti were prepared by Catherine Campbell, Idaho power company service adviser.

Miss Campbell explained that grain products such as rice and macaroni swell after they have been cooked. She said one cup of uncooked rice will make about three cups after cooking.

She also said the housewife should use two cups of water for each cup of rice and simmer so the rice will retain its food value.

Other recipes discussed were Dutch oven dinner, dinner in a skillet, homemade noodles, surprise salmon puff, pork chop casserole and smoked beef tongue casserole.

How to make breads and rolls will be demonstrated at the next session at 8 p. m. Monday in the Idaho power company auditorium. All women are invited to attend.

Expansion of Trade Urged By President

DENVER, April 27 (AP)—A reduction of man-made barriers to trade between nations was urged yesterday by President Eisenhower in a recorded interview presented to the League of Women Voters as it opened its 21st national convention.

"The more closely we are joined with the other free nations of the world, the greater is our national security in this generation," the President said in the recorded interview with Mrs. G. Lee, Farmington, Conn., national president of the league.

"Very few Americans, in my opinion, would today urge that we abandon all our alliances, and all our friendships, and retreat into continental isolationism. But we can wall ourselves off in isolation by a stubborn refusal to promote the freest possible trade with others that is consistent with the stability of our own economy."

Other considerations in expansion of world trade, Eisenhower said, should be "the enlightened self-interest of our united states and our ultimate goal of a cooperative peace in the world."

"The hungry, the disease-ridden, the impoverished, are easily moved by threats and promises of propaganda," the President said.

"Through trade we create opportunities for raising standards of living in other countries, and we win friends who are dependable, we make the world more stable. Only a stable world can be a truly peaceful world."

The convention will continue through Friday, with an estimated 1,000 or more delegates in attendance.

Its principal studies will include United States trade policies directed toward expanding world trade, and the safeguarding of individual liberty.

Group of GOP Votes Backing For McCarthy

MADISON, Wis., April 27 (AP)—The Wisconsin Republican party executive committee has given Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy a "general vote of confidence."

Robert Pierce, Wisconsin state GOP chairman, said a resolution commending McCarthy adopted at a Monday meeting of the committee was "generally... a vote of confidence."

Pierce hereby commended Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy for his courage and fortitude in withstanding the continued attacks and smears of the left wing press, columnists, commentators and New Deal dogooders who have attempted to divert and delude the people of this great Republic from the real issue: Namely, the gigantic conspiracy of the communist party to infiltrate our government and rob us of our American heritage and way of life," the resolution said.

Pierce made his statement in answer to a question from a newsmen whether the resolution applied to the current dispute between the Wisconsin Republican and the army.
